REPATRIATION: IT CAN BE DONE!

NIGERIA DID IT IN TWO WEEKS– WE COULD DO IT HUMANELY IN TEN YEARS

MANY BRITONS have been brainwashed into believing that it is "too late" to do anything about the millions of coloured Immigrants resident in our country.

Last month Nigeria proved that it is never "too late"!

In the space of two weeks, and with the minimum of fuss, they calmly repatriated 3 million Ghanaian, Togolese and Beninois Immigrants back to their countries of origin.

The Nigerian Government was forced to take such steps because the slump in oil prices had caused an economic crisis resulting in a sharp rise in unemployment, an increase in crime and friction between Nigerians and the Immigrants.

The Immigrants had been allowed into West Africa's wealthiest state during the oil boom years of the seventies to act as cheap labour.

Despite only allowing the immigrants 14 days to 'sell-up' and 'go home' – and offering them no help whatsoever with regard to resettlement – the Nigerian Government has succeeded in carrying out a repatriation programme of three million people in the crudest way possible with only a handful of casualties.

As with Idi Amin's repatriation of the Ugandan Asians, 'World Opinion' has not demanded sanctions against Nigeria.

The Organisation of African Unity asked Nigeria to be "more flexible" in its evacuation arrangements but the United Nations made no comment on the affair.

LIKE NIGERIA

Britain, like Nigeria, has a large Immigrant community.

They have been allowed into our country since the early 1950s when Big Business and government concerns needed them not only as a great human pool of cheap labour, but also as a method of counter-attacking against the demands of the all-White working population for better living standards.

Also like Nigeria, Britain is now in the grip of an economic crisis. With 3.3 million unemployed and factories closing down each day, the prospect for the future looks bleak.

Both the Conservative Government and the Labour Opposition are bankrupt for ideas to stop the growth of the dole queues.

All they have to offer is 'splitting jobs in half' (and the wages as well) or making the taxpayer pay for 'creating' jobs where no jobs exist.

The National Front has the answers to Britain's problems.

Only by the repatriation of the Immigrant population coupled with immediate import controls, a ban on the export of capital and the encouragement of manufacturing production by interest free loans, can we ensure that every Briton who is able to work can play their part in our country's economic recovery.

TEN YEARS

The repatriation plans of a National Front government for the Coloured Immigrants would span over ten years, not two weeks, and would be carried out in a dignified and humane manner.

All Coloured Immigrants and their off-spring would be put on a register of persons required to leave the country.

Negotiations would then be opened up with countries in Africa, Asia, the West Indies and Latin America with a view to persuading them to take quotas of coloured people required to leave Britain.

A great many of these countries accept foreign aid of which Britain is a major contributor. Terms for the continuation of this aid – and in some cases a temporary increase – would be the willingness for countries to accept resettlement quotas.

Every resettled person would be given a grant to cover their fare across the sea plus an adequate allowance to enable them to settle in the destination country, which in most cases would be their country of origin.

Once a resettlement country has been found the Immigrant would be given six months to wind up his affairs in this country.

Nigeria has shown the world that repatriation can be done.

POLITICAL WILL

If Britain is to avert economic chaos and civil disorders of major proportions, it must follow Nigeria's example and repatriate its Immigrant population. All that is needed is organisation, money, boats and, above all, the political will to tackle the problem.

And what of those Immigrants repatriated by Nigeria?

As Christopher Morris of the BBC reported from Lagos Harbour as a boat load of smiling and waving Ghanaians left the docks: "They're just happy to be going home."

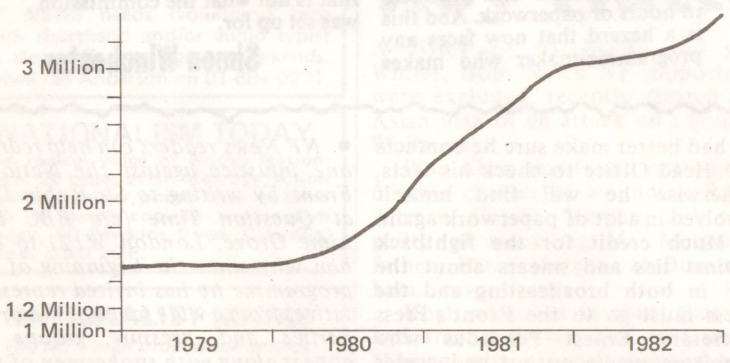
JOBS EXPORTED AS JOBLESS TOTAL REACHES 3.3 MILLION

MARGARET THATCHER's claim that Britain's 'economic recession' is bottoming out was shown to be a total sham when Norman Tebbitt, Employment Secretary, revealed that the number of Britain's jobless had leapt upwards in January by over 125,000 to a record 3,224,715.

Mrs. Thatcher said it was a "great disappointment," but she felt that her policies were right and that as a result of these inflation had come down.

Within days of this statement the value of the pound started to crash dropping by about 10% in just a few days. This effective devaluation will inevitably lead to an increase in the rate of inflation over the next few months.

Government ministers may still genuinely believe that there is some hope for their policies, but the banks and financial houses of the City of London clearly think otherwise.



This graph illustrates what Mrs. Thatcher calls "building a slimmer, fitter economy" – millions of British workers on the dole who could and should be working to create wealth.

Since exchange controls were lifted at the end of 1979 vast sums of desperately needed investment capital have been fleeing the country.

While our factories are starved of the investment needed to buy new equipment, to acquire the latest technology and to carry out research into new products and techniques, the City of London has been channelling billions of pounds into Japan, America, Africa and even into Argentina in order to chase a quick profit.

Last year a total of £5 billion pounds left this country, bringing the total since the lifting of exchange controls to nearly £10 billion.

According to the TUC this £10 billion, if invested in Britain, would immediately provide 574,000 jobs giving every school leaver a job and some hope for the future.

Besides this obvious export of investment and consequently jobs, there is also the more hidden transfer of jobs from this country by multinational companies.

On 7th January Mr. Rayment, Operations Manager, announced that the multinational Ford Car Company was to transfer part of the production of the Ford Escort, Britain's top selling car, away from Halewood, Merseyside, to Saarlouis in West Germany with the loss of 1300 jobs.

While Norman Tebbitt is juggling with the figures (he recently managed to lose 200,000 jobless by not counting those people who though registered as unemployed and looking for work do not collect unemployment benefit) he is totally ignoring the causes of this monstrous tragedy.

It is the international bankers and the multinational companies who are wrecking this country, but the Conservatives can hardly act against them because it is precisely these parasites that provide the Conservative Party with its financial support.

'Top Jew' rejects Webster appeal

JUDGE George John Schindler threw out Martin Webster's Appeal against Abusive Words and Disorderly Conduct convictions at Inner London Crown Court on Friday 18th February.

Schindler replaced a one month suspended sentence plus £500 costs with a three month suspended sentence plus £1,250 costs.

As Mr. Webster left Court a Fleet Street Press Agency reporter asked him:

"Do you know that Judge Schindler is a leading member of the Jewish community? Do you suppose there is a wag in the Court Lists Office?"

Mr. Webster replied:

"Schindler is the only Jew among 17 judges sitting at this Court."

The prosecution arose out of the disruption of a speech by Home Secretary William Whitelaw during which Mr. Webster called out:

"Whitelaw, you bastard – why did you see to it that Joe Pearce was hounded into jail when you refused to press prosecutions against the leaders of the Bristol and Brixton riots?"

BARBIE, SHARON AND ZIONIST MEDIA MANIPULATION

IF HALF the alleged 'Crimes Against Humanity' attributed to the recently-arrested former head of the Lyons Gestapo, Klaus Barbie, are true, then he deserves retribution. Press coverage about his alleged doings has made it impossible for him to be accorded a fair trial, however.

Concurrent with the blaze of publicity about Barbie has been a clearly co-ordinated splurge of media reports about other as yet unarrested German "war criminals."

The arrest of Barbie and all these other stories are part of a brilliantly-executed Zionist public relations operation timed to appear at the very moment when the report of the Judicial Inquiry into the massacres of Palestinian civilians in Beirut last year was due to appear.

Zionist influence over the media is enormous, both at an ownership and an editorial level. Zionist media power went into top gear in the hope that reports of alleged crimes against Jews 40 years ago would distract attention from, or excuse, last year's crimes alleged against Israel's Defence Minister Ariel Sharon.

This Zionist media-manipulation won't wash. The International War Crimes Tribunal must be reconvened at Nuremberg, and Sharon – together with his boss, Menachem Begin – must occupy the dock which once contained Hermann Goering and Julius Streicher.

NF News seeks to persuade its readers to feel angry about the evils of multi-racialism and to direct their anger solely at the corrupt politicians who created a racial problem in Britain, and not to the Immigrant people in general. "Racialism" is NOT unlawful – only "racial hatred".

PATRIOTISM WITHOUT SERVICE IS AN EMPTY SHAM

MARTIN WEBSTER contributes the third article in our NF Manifesto series.

OUR Manifesto at the next General Election will spell out the radical new direction the British nation would take upon the advent of a National Front government.

The keynote of our approach will be, as it has always been: the restoration of British national sovereignty.

Within Britain we advocate the dismantlement of the Capitalist system in favour of a Nationalist system which will offer a genuine chance to all of our people to become property owners. Our new system will forbid foreign ownership of British enterprises.

Externally, Britain will detach itself from the 'World Government' orientated international financial system and will progressively quit the internationalist organs of that system such as the EEC, GATT, the IMF, the World Bank, and the United Nations.

Such steps are absolutely necessary if we are to regain our national freedom, but we would be fooling ourselves if we did not appreciate that the implementation of such steps would probably provoke reprisals.

If Britain is to be in a position to survive the pressures that would be applied against her, she could not chunter along in the inefficient, disorganised and wasteful way that she has drifted through life since the last war.

MASSIVE RECONSTRUCTION

The entire resources of the nation would have to be mobilised to ensure national survival. This will mean more than just massive industrial reconstruction and putting every inch of available land under the plough.

It will mean that the most valuable resource of all – the British people, particularly the youth – must be mobilised.

The effort to regain national freedom will require every ounce of patriotism that our people possess. It must be backed by practical service to the nation.

For these reasons alone – and there are others of equal but more long-term importance – it will be essential for us to institute a form of National Service for young people.

Such National Service would not be of the old fashioned sort which was exclusively military in character.

I propose that the period of service to the nation which all young people would be required to give would, in the case of the average young man, involve one year with a National Reconstruction Movement, and a further year in the Armed Forces – or, in the case of those who are unsuitable for, or who conscientiously object to, military service, a further year with the NRM.

WOMEN'S SECTIONS

Young women would have the option of two years' service with the NRM, but those who wished after one year to join women's sections of the Armed Forces would be allowed to do so, if suitable.

There are vitally important public works projects which could and should be undertaken and which the NRM could carry out – the draining and damming of The Wash, the restoration of the canal network, the re-forestation of highland areas (for young men); the construction of decent welfare agencies, hospital back-up services and the like (for young women).

INVALUABLE TRAINING

Service in the NRM and later in the Armed Forces would bring young people together from the ages of 18 to 20 from all social backgrounds in an atmosphere of service, discipline, challenge and comradeship which they would find an invaluable training for later life.

Such an experience would do more to eliminate class divisions and promote national unity than a hundred years of theoretical prattle from left-wing wafflers.

Furthermore, the young people would derive a sense of pride from having assisted personally in the reconstruction and defence of their nation, and would thus be possessed of a greater sense of responsibility for it throughout the remainder of their adult lives.

The practical and economic advantage of such a National Service system are obvious – but the social and educational benefits which will accrue to the young people involved – and hence to the nation – should not be under-estimated.

UNIFIED FOLK COMMUNITY

I stress that these proposals are not put forward as a remedy for current massive youth unemployment (though the abandoned and betrayed youth of today's Britain would certainly benefit from such a scheme), but as a means of harnessing the idealism and energy of young people in the service of the nation and building a unified folk community.

Young Nationalists nowadays like to sing "Tomorrow Belongs To Me!" I hope they understand that their nation will only have a future if they are prepared to work for it and fight for it.

LABOUR ADOPTS MARCH LEADER AS CANDIDATE

FURTHER proof that the Labour Party is being taken over by militant Reds was seen in January when Roger Godsiff was adopted as the party's candidate for Birmingham-Yardley.

The name Roger Godsiff may not ring a bell with many people – but mention of the vicious riot in Lewisham on 13th August 1977 may stir some memories.

The NF announced its intention of staging a march in Lewisham to protest against a spate of mugging attacks by Blacks in the area.

An organisation called the 'All Lewisham Campaign Against Racism and Fascism' (ALCARAF) was set up to oppose the NF march.

ALCARAF's Organiser was Mike Power, boss of the Lewisham Communist Party and a member of the CP National Executive.

One of ALCARAF's leading supporters was Roger Godsiff, then Labour Mayor of Lewisham, who degraded his office by opening Communist Party Morning Star bazaars.

The NF march, by Police permission, was due to assemble in New Cross Gate at 2.00 pm. ALCARAF organised a counter-march in the morning and refused to negotiate a route with the Police.

They announced their intention of marching to New Cross Gate to "greet the NF marchers as they arrive", despite Police objections to this plan which was clearly calculated to provoke violence.

Roger Godsiff was at the head of the ALCARAF march.

An hour before the NF marchers started to assemble a riot broke out as ALCARAF supporters attacked the Police with bricks, bottles, knives, clubs and acid sprays.

In due course the NF marchers were similarly attacked. The rioting continued for two hours after the NF had completed its demonstration.

More than 130 people – including 56 Policemen – were injured. 214 people were arrested – none of them NF.

Roger Godsiff bears a big share of responsibility for those shocking events.

Smearmonger whines as NF hits back

'TRENDY LEFTY' Sunday Times journalist Simon Winchester, whose only claim to fame is that he was detained by the Argentine authorities during the Falklands conflict, devoted the whole of his column recently whining over the extra paperwork he had been put to in answering inquiries by the Broadcasting Complaints Commission concerning a BBC TV programme he had produced.

The programme had made "injudicious assertions" about the NF and the BCC had called on Winchester to account for these following complaints by the National Front.

In his pitiful article Winchester claims the Front is using the BBC to "further its own aims" and that "eight out of eighteen" complaints on their files are from the NF.

It is not surprising that the NF resorts to bodies such as the BCC and the Press Council since that is the only way the party can hit back at the smearmongers who are continually broadcasting or publishing lies and misrepresentations about the party.

RIGHT OF REPLY

All other parties are allowed the 'Right of Reply', this in most cases being granted in the same programme or article as the criticism is made.

Yet assertions are made about the NF without any effort being made to contact the NF beforehand either to check facts or to offer a 'Right of Reply'.

In fact the last time that a National Front official was invited on television to reply to a smear feature was more than FIVE YEARS AGO when Martin Webster appeared on BBC's Tonight programme in an interview with Ludovic Kennedy.

Well, as Simon Winchester found out, the NF will not stand for the party being maligned without hitting back.

Next time he produces a programme about the National Front he had better make sure he contacts the Head Office to check his facts, otherwise he will find himself involved in a lot of paperwork again.

Much credit for the fightback against lies and smears about the NF in both broadcasting and the press must go to the Front's Press Secretary Ernest Pendrous who monitors media output and wades through piles of correspondence each day to complain about and secure corrections to inaccurate statements or reports.

Frontal attack on broadcasting

SUNDAY TIMES

TWO WEEKS ago, sharp-eyed readers of the Radio Times may have spotted a severe little item nestling among readers' letters praising Barchester Towers and the wonderful ladies of Tenko. The item, three paragraphs long, was headed "Broadcasting Complaints Commission: summary of an adjudication". It announced that one of four complaints made by the National Front against a television documentary had been upheld.

The makers of the programme (who, I should say, included myself) had been called to account for supposed errors and injudicious assertions about the Front. The little-known BCC, set up by Parliament 18 months ago, investigated exhaustively and then issued the gentlest of raps across the knuckles: the three paragraphs published in Radio Times, as the law requires.

But responding to the Front's complaints involved the programme's editor and producer in hours or paperwork. And this is a hazard that now faces any programme-maker who makes the slightest criticism of Martin Webster and his colleagues.

According to the BCC secretariat, nearly half of the complaints against broadcasters now on file – eight out of 18 – have come from the Front. And there is at least a suspicion that the organisation is deliberately using the commission to inhibit free discussion of its activities.

Certainly, television and radio producers are acutely aware that the Front is by far the BCC's single biggest customer. As one independent TV producer said last week: "We are allowed to comment on the Labour party and the Tory party, and criticise members, but anything less than fulsome praise for the Front and they are down on you like a ton of bricks."

The BCC itself refuses to comment on the proliferation of Front complaints, but one official commented privately: "There is no doubt that the Front is using the commission to further its own aims. And that is not what the commission was set up for."

West Yorkshire Police are not far behind Scotland Yard in their multi-racial 'image' building.

BRITAIN'S Police chiefs are fighting a desperate battle to head off plans to reduce their independence by subjecting them to greater supervision by local government politicians.

Ranged against the Police are Marxist subversives who have seized control of the Labour Party at local level and who now control many of the local government authorities which fund the Police service through Rates precepts.

Allied to the Police is the Home Office and its associated law enforcement agencies.

The principal weapons which the Left has been deploying are:

1) Race riots;

2) Associated "racism" allegations, e.g. "The Police force is a fundamentally racist institution incapable of providing the kind of service required by a multi-racial society without adequate political supervision."

The Police chiefs' strategy to cope with this assault on their and their institution's independence can only be described as one of appeasement: making displays of 'community relations' mindedness.

The latest manifestation of this strategy was seen in the plan to reorganise the Metropolitan Police recently announced by its new Commissioner, Sir Keith Newman.

He proposes not only a greater degree of devolution of authority to area Assistant Commissioners, but the establishment of 24 Watch Committees. Watch Committee members will, no doubt, be drawn not only from Establishment political parties, but ethnic minority groups and sundry other 'community relations' organisations.

Other manifestations of the strategy have included:

- The abandonment of an entire city district to the mercies of a looting, fire-raising Black mob.
- The refusal to press prosecutions against Black ringleaders of major race riots.
- Turning a blind eye to drug-dealing centres in Black areas.
- The recruitment of educationally sub-standard Blacks.
- The appointment of a Black Labour-Marxist (Paul Boateng) to the Board of Bramshill College (which trains officers destined for senior ranks).
- Oppressing White racialist political parties (such as the National Front) by means of politically-motivated Race Relations Act and Public Order Act prosecutions and operationally-unjustified bans on their demonstrations.

These 'clever' public relations tactics may, with the help of the Tory media, enable Police Chiefs to win their power-struggle against Leftist local government politicians, but they are alienating the people who the Police need to have on their side most of all:

The White British majority of the population.

"Ganja is cool, man!" says cop

CHIEF Inspector Wilfred Knight of Scotland Yard's Quisling 'Community Relations' Branch believes that patriotic White youngsters who publish the truth about Britain's multi-racial nightmare should be sent to jail.

He helped hound Joe Pearce into jail last year.

He also believes that riot-prone Rastafarian Blacks should be allowed to smoke the drug cannabis (Ganja).

He says that the use of the drug by Rastas should be "de-criminalised" as the present law turns them into "outlaws".

(The Race Relations Act turns British racial-Nationalists into outlaws, Mr. Knight!)

He says: "The Rastafarian cult is taking off among Blacks in Britain, and unless British law is changed to make an exception of them, they could become a threat to society."

Knight was given permission by his superiors to spout this tripe not because they agree with him, but as a publicity gimmick to 'soften the image' of the Police among Blacks.

Knight is currently studying for a 'degree' in Rastafarianism at Cambridge.

"Dis here man am 'Ganja' Knight – De Babylon brudder who got tings right!"

McNee hits the jackpot!

HOW does the Establishment ensure that Top Cops are compliant to its will when promotion patronage cannot be used?

By offering the prospect of high-pay low-work company directorships and consultancies upon their retirement.

Sir David McNee

The previous Commissioner of the Metropolitan Police, Sir David McNee, retired last year with an inflation proofed pension of £22,000 a year.

Shortly afterwards he sold his memoirs to the Sunday Mirror for a cool £120,000.

After that he secured these non-executive company directorships:

Fleet Holdings (Lord Matthews' company which owns the Express group of newspapers. He will act as non-executive Chairman of Fleet Holdings subsidiary, Scottish Express Newspapers.) Annual salary: £10,000.

Clydesdale Bank: Annual salary: £5,000.

British Airways Board: £10,000.

JACKPOT!

Grovelling away in Brixton

FOLLOWING re-organisation plans recently promulgated by Metropolitan Police Commissioner Kenneth Newman, Lambeth Police Commander Alex Marnoch has announced the formation of a "Consultative Group".

He declared that the group will be "used as a vehicle for directing overall Police strategy" in the South London borough which includes Brixton.

He unveiled the details of his strategy to the group – which contains representatives of 33 "community organisations" – at a meeting held last month.

What kind of humanoid zoo the "Consultative Group" is can be left to readers' imaginations. Commander Marnoch says he has "a lot of confidence in the group's rational approach."

He promised that he will "seek the group's approval for all future Police policy initiatives in the borough."

"Blacks not fiddling grants"—Knights

THREE years ago several Policemen were seriously injured by Blacks who rioted outside an all-week 'Blues party' in Birmingham. The Blacks were arrested and charged.

Then the Blacks were released and the charges dropped "for fear of a worse riot breaking out."

The man responsible for this appalling decision was West Midlands Chief Constable Sir Philip Knights.

Knights is back on the 'community relations' trail yet again.

In January the Labour dominated West Midlands County Council rejected an application for a grant of £500,000 from its own Race Relations Sub-Committee.

The cash was intended to be used to make cash grants to a variety of minority ethnic group organisations.

However the Council formed the opinion that there had been "misuse" and "squandering" of grants to such groups last year.

Liberal Councillor Paul Tilsley put it more bluntly: "There have been elaborate rip-offs."

Councillor James Hunte, the Black Vice-Chairman of the sub-committee warned of a "Summer of discontent" if the cash was not doled out pronto.

"There is a problem of Black youth on the streets," he said darkly.

Chief Constable Knights quickly took the hint and declared:

"There is no prima facie evidence of a criminal offence having been committed."

MONEYLENDERS ARE RIPPING OFF LOCAL COUNCILS

LOCAL government in Britain will continue to be in crisis for as long as local Councils have a lion's share of their expenditure devoted to servicing debts owed to bankers, and as long as they are allowed to try and solve today's problems by borrowing even more from the bankers.

Many people are never able to puzzle out why it is that they pay more and more each year in Rates or rents, yet services from their local or county Council – road maintenance, refuse and cleansing, education, welfare, house building etc. – get increasingly sparse.

Yet the principal reason for the problem is there for all to see who bother to study their local Council's annual financial report. That reason is: bankers' usury.

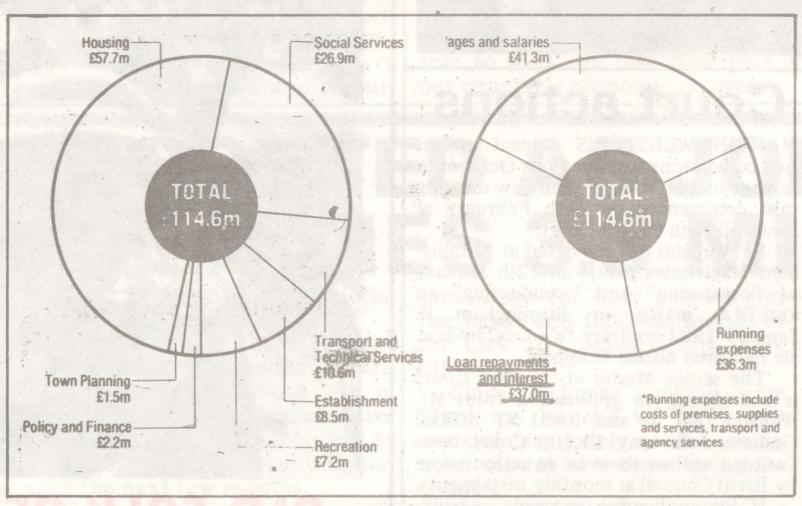
Take the report of South London's Wandsworth Borough Council as an example.

In its annual report for 1980/81 it issued a series of 'cake' diagrams, illustrating by means of 'slices' where its income came from, and how it was spent.

We reproduce two of the diagrams which appeared under the heading: "The Council's gross revenue expenditure 1980/81."

Study the diagram on the left. This indicates that £57.7 million – nearly half its gross revenue of £114.6 million – was spent on "housing".

This might lead you to believe that the Council spent £57.7 million on building new homes and on maintaining its present housing stock. But perusal of the diagram on the right indicates what a wrong notion that would be.



The diagram on the right shows that £37 million of gross revenue – nearly one third – was spent on "loan repayments and interest!"

Clearly a very substantial part of the £57.7 million spent on "housing" was not spent on building new homes but on paying bankers' capital and interest on house construction carried out year ago!

58p OUT OF EVERY £

Wandsworth's plight is not as chronic as that of many other councils. Walsall in the West Midlands devotes 58p of every £ of its income to paying the money lenders!

A National Front Government would put a stop to the bankers' usury racket by establishing a State Municipal Bank which would provide local Councils with interest-free loans for essential projects such as housing.

Roy Hattersley's strange allies

A JURY of six Blacks and six Whites, from which NF supporters were excluded, recently cleared an Asian man of an attack on a young White man.

Pino Khan was found not guilty of two charges of wounding RAF Airman Gareth Morgan and not guilty of assaulting Mr. Morgan's father, Barry Morgan, at Birmingham Crown Court.

Khan admitted in court that he had fractured the skull of Gareth Morgan with a lump of wood but claimed that he had done this "in self-defence" following racial taunts.

Khan's barrister told the jury that a not guilty verdict would express their "horror and outrage at racial harassment that none of us wants in our society."

An interesting aspect of the case was the involvement of Shadow Home Secretary and local MP, Roy Hattersley.

Hattersley wanted to be a defence witness but his evidence concerning alleged "racial attacks" was ruled irrelevant.

On hearing the outcome of the trial Hattersley said:

"I have made an official complaint about the way Pino Khan was treated by the Police."

Hattersley's remarks were doubtless a great comfort to the 'Pino Khan Defence Committee'.

The Defence Committee had earlier issued leaflets which spoke of "fascist attacks" on Asians and claimed that Whites were pursuing a "campaign of terror."

The address used by the Committee is shared with an IRA front known as the 'Birmingham Hunger Strikers Commemoration Committee'.

Hattersley's Sparkhill constituency has a large number of Immigrant voters. Could this be the reason why a so-called "responsible" politician involved himself in such a suspect campaign?

National Front ACTION Nationwide

CENTRAL LONDON, Saturday 15th January: More than 120 Branch, Group and Regional officials of the National Front attended the party's annual Party Officers Conference in order to plan the work of the party for the coming year. Special attention was given to planning for the next General Election. All NF candidates in the election will be backed by a personalised election address which will be posted to all households in every constituency contested, and the party has devised an effective but economic 'Election Package' to facilitate this. The re-organisation of the party's Education and Training Department was among many other topics discussed. Quarterly regional seminars are being instituted and in addition to this Education Officers will be appointed to institute local unit political discussion groups.

LIVERPOOL, Merseyside, Saturday 5th February: Members of Liverpool NF Group have commenced the distribution of a special leaflet in selected Council estates where it is known that White tenants are under threat of eviction by Liverpool City Council on account of their alleged involvement in "racial harassment". Not long ago the Council announced that it intended to evict "racialist" families and to re-house them in "inferior accommodation." This policy has the support of Labour, Liberal and Conservative Councillors. From statements issued by them it is clear that the Council only deems "racial harassment" to be attacks by White tenants on Blacks, not attacks by Blacks on Whites. The procedures for determining which families are to be evicted do not seem to accord with Natural Justice, and the NF leaflet asks families who are under threat to contact the NF for legal assistance.

GRAVESEND, Kent, Friday 11th February: Seven members and supporters of the National Front who supported a protest demonstration in Gravesend, Kent on Saturday 4th December, attended the first hearing at Gravesend Magistrates Court of a prosecution against them for "Unlawful Assembly." The demonstration had been called in protest against Gravesend Borough Council's decision to refuse to hire a hall to enable Mr. Paul Johnson, NF Kent Regional Organiser, to be formally adopted as the NF candidate for Gravesend at the next General Election. It was originally intended to hold a brief protest meeting outside Gravesend Civic Centre, but this was forbidden by the Police. The NF crowd was directed to hold its meeting in an area of common land next to a park, and the participants resolved that the Police directive, coming on top of the Council's hall-hire ban, was an oppression of the right to make a peaceful protest in eye and earshot of the public. They thus agreed to march to the Civic Centre and hand in a letter of protest before dispersing. On their way to the Civic Centre the NF members were menaced by a crowd of Asians, and scuffles broke out during which numerous Asians and two NF members were arrested. Only one of the Asians was charged. Eight weeks later "Unlawful Assembly" summonses were served on 7 NF members or supporters, including Ian Anderson, NF Deputy-Chairman; James Sneath, Southwark Branch Organiser; Paul Johnson, the NF candidate; and Tony Hussey, a Southwark Branch Committee member.

LEIGHTON BUZZARD, Bedfordshire, 2nd December: Leighton Buzzard's 'Trades Council' have instigated a special "anti-racialist" propaganda drive following the distribution of NF leaflets outside local youth clubs. Said 'Trades Council' Secretary Tony Favell: "We have seen more and more Nazi (sic) activities in the town, but no one has said how to combat it." Herts and Beds NF Organiser Terry Morgan told local newspapers: "The Trades Council's campaign has come about as a result of our distribution of British Jobs for British Workers leaflets. We are obviously making an impression."

THE WEST END, London, Saturday 22nd January: Michael Walker, Editor of the independent magazine The National Democrat was guest speaker at a well-attended NF Dining Club function held in a Soho restaurant. Mr. Walker, who has travelled extensively in Europe, gave a talk about various Nationalist (and not-so-Nationalist) groups on the Continent and outlined their diverse ideologies and tactical approaches. His talk was well received and more than £300 was raised for NF funds. Anybody who would like to be put on the NF Dining Club list should write to the Club's Secretary at 50 Pawsons Road, Croydon, Surrey, enclosing £1.

'JOBS AND HOMES FOR BRITONS FIRST!'

—JIM SNEATH'S CAMPAIGN PLATFORM IN BERMONDSEY BY-ELECTION

BRITONS FIRST! That's the central theme of Jim Sneath's campaign as the National Front candidate in the Bermondsey by-election — Polling Day: 24th February.

As this issue of NF News was prepared the election was only in its early stages, but already the NF campaign was going with a swing.

A campaign Committee Rooms was secured in the heart of the constituency, next to Surrey Docks station.

Every household in the constituency will receive a two-colour printed and personalised election address from Mr. Sneath, and the bulk of these were in the post by 11th February.

Two Council halls were booked for election rallies — one for 19th the other for 22nd February (without any quibble from Southwark Council!).

DAILY ACTIVITY

Large teams of campaign workers commenced a daily round of leafletting, postering, canvassing, loudspeakering and door-to-door newspaper selling.

Notification has gone in to Scotland Yard concerning plans for a march on Saturday 19th February prior to the rally.

Mr. Sneath was adopted as the NF candidate at a crowded meeting at the Elephant and Castle on 28th February (see picture above right). A collection raised £685 for his campaign fund.

In his acceptance speech Mr. Sneath declared:

"The people of Bermondsey are under attack. I will devote this campaign to demanding that they are not jostled to the back of the employment and housing queue by aliens."

Stop Press:
MARCH BANNED

On a request from the Police, the Home Secretary William Whitelaw banned the NF march through Bermondsey in support of Jim Sneath.

The ban was promulgated on Friday 19th February.

Later that night further bans on marches in Tower Hamlets, Greenwich, Lambeth and Lewisham were imposed after the NF proposed to march through New Cross.

Jim Sneath's election rally raised £480 towards his campaign.

N.F. COUNTERS LEEDS SINN FEIN MARCH

A FOREST of Union Jacks fluttered in the icy wind at the front of more than 500 NF members as they marched through Leeds, West Yorkshire, on Sunday 30th January.

The NF march was held to counter a march held in the city that day by the Sinn Fein — the "political" wing of the IRA — to mark the 11th anniversary of the Londonderry 'Bloody Sunday' riots.

Fearing to provoke the wrath of ordinary British people, the IRA supporters and their communist allies staged their demonstration in Immigrant-inundated Chapeltown.

The NF marched through the city centre and was greeted with waves and thumbs-up signs from pedestrians. There was a minimal Police escort and there were no incidents.

The turnout of NF members for this activity was excellent in view of the fact that many had to make their way to Leeds through snow storms.

As the NF demonstration moved off a tiny cluster of no more than 25 supporters of a Hove-based 'Nationalist' splinter group stood on a hillock shouting "Come and join us!" This pitiful and inane display was greeted with hoots of laughter and ironic cheers by the NF marchers.

HELP PUBLISH JOE'S BOOKLET

CHELMSFORD Jail was the place where Joe Pearce was sent for six months for the 'crime' of publishing the truth about Britain's multi-racial society.

Joe did not waste his time in jail. He wrote a series of articles about freedom. It soon became clear that the articles were chapters of a potential booklet.

Now he would like YOUR help to get the booklet published. A fund has been set up — with a target of £500 — to see that this is done.

Every NF News reader who donates £5 or more to Joe's Booklet Fund will have his/her name (or pseudonym) published in the front of the booklet; and will receive a signed numbered copy.

Make your cheques/POs out to Nationalist Books and post to 50 Pawsons Road, Croydon, Surrey CRO 2QF.

Hounslow youth rally peaceful

RESIDENTS of the Beavers Estate, Hounslow, have for several months past complained of Police harassment of local White youngsters.

Last November a Police patrol car was petrol-bombed in retaliation.

On Saturday 22nd January NF NW London Regional Organiser Philip Andrews convened a rally on the estate to protest against Police bullying of local White people.

A march to the local Police station had been planned, but the Police banned this.

The peaceful rally was attended by many locals including 85 year old William Kent, who gave a speech in support of local youngsters.

In another part of London — Hackney — on that day the Police allowed a Black group to hold an anti-Police march, even though the group had staged two riots during the preceding week!

The march ended in another riot.

Ulster trip

A TRIP to Belfast by National Front members is being planned for a weekend early this Summer. The final date will depend on the timing of the next General Election, but a weekend in late June is being considered.

Mini-coach parties are being organised by NF Regional Organisers in all parts of the country. The coach parties will depart on Friday and return late on Sunday.

So far as London coach parties are concerned, the return fare, including ferry, will be about £30. Additional spending money of £25+ and a sleeping bag/bedroll will be essential.

Places limited, so book NOW. Further details from Ian Anderson, 50 Pawsons Road, Croydon (01-684 0271).

Court actions

MARTIN WEBSTER'S Appeal against two convictions sustained last October in respect of the William Whitelaw meeting case commenced on 16th February at Inner London Crown Court.

Mr. Webster was convicted at Birmingham Magistrates Court on 12th January of "organising" and "conducting" an anti-IRA march in Birmingham in January 1982 contrary to a local by-law. He has given notice of appeal.

The senior Master at the High Court is considering an application from Mr. Webster that he and Brent NF official Graham John pay £1,200 Court costs awarded against them in an action taken by Brent Council in monthly instalments.

If his application succeeds, a bankruptcy petition by Brent Council will be stayed.
